The Gaming Act (Variation of Monetary Limits) (No.2) Order 1997
The Amusements with Prizes (Variation of Fees) Order 1991
The Gaming Act (Variation of Fees) (No. 2) Order 1991
The Amusements with Prizes (Variation of Monetary Limits) Order 1999

The attention of occupiers and prospective occupiers of amusement parks, arcades and other premises on which amusements with prizes or gaming machines are or will be provided, is drawn to the provisions of section 34 of and Schedule 9 to the 1968 Act and section 16 of and Schedule 3 to the 1976 Act. A summary of the main provisions is set out below.

Gaming at Commercial Establishments

Two separate forms of gaming are subject to the provisions of the Acts, namely:

- (1) The use of machines for gaming to which Part III of the Gaming Act 1968 applies, i.e. all machines which -
  - (a) are constructed or adapted for playing a game of chance by means of the machine and
  - (b) have a slot or other aperture for the insertion of money or money's worth in the form of cash or tokens, for which a permit under s. 34 of the 1968 Act is required
- (2) The provision of amusements with prizes otherwise than by such machines, for which a permit under s. 16 of the 1976 Act is required.

In both these cases gaming is unlawful unless the appropriate kind of permit has been granted by the local authority within whose area the premises are situated and is in force under the Acts.

The only premises for which local authorities can grant permits for the use of machines giving all-cash prizes are amusement arcades (i.e. premises used wholly or mainly for the provision of amusements by means of machines), subject to restrictions on access to people under 18. Liquor licensed premises, bingo clubs and casinos licensed under Part II of the Gaming Act, and licensed betting offices can also have these machines, but the permits or licences are granted by the licensing justices.

Applications for and grant/renewal/refusal of Permits

An application for the grant of a permit (as appropriate) in respect of any premises should be made to the local authority of the area by the occupier or prospective occupier. Renewal of the permit may be applied for from time to time by the holder.

In each case the grant or renewal of a permit is at the discretion of the local authority, and if granted or renewed will cease to be in force at the expiration of three or more years as may be specified by the authority.

A fee of £32.00 is payable to the authority on the grant (or renewal) of a permit under sect.34(1) of the Gaming Act or sect.16 of the Lotteries and Amusements Act. The fee payable for a permit for all-cash machines is fixed annually by the local authority up to a maximum of £250. Please enquire of the authority as to the current fee.

The local authority may not refuse an application for the grant or renewal of a permit without first giving the applicant or his representative an opportunity of appearing before and being heard by the authority (or a committee thereof). The authority may always refuse to grant or renew a permit on the ground that, by reason of the purposes for which, or the persons by whom, or any circumstances in which, the premises are, or are to be, used, it is undesirable that amusements with prizes or gaming by way of machines should take place thereon. A renewal may also be refused in respect of any premises if the authorised representatives of the local authority have been refused reasonable facilities to inspect the premises.

Appeal against refusal

Where the local authority refuse an application for grant (or renewal) they must notify the applicant forthwith and furnish him with a written statement of the grounds thereof; and the applicant may appeal against the refusal to the Crown Court. Notice of any such appeal must be given to the proper officer of the local authority. If notice of appeal against refusal of a renewal is duly given, the permit will not cease to be in force until the determination or abandonment of the appeal.

Transferability of Permit, and death of holder

A permit will not be transferable and will be of no effect at any time when its holder is not the occupier of the premises; but in the event of his death then for six months thereafter the permit will be deemed to continue in force and, except for purposes of renewal, his legal personal representatives shall be deemed to be the holder.

Further permits not required

Where a permit under s. 34 of the 1968 Act is in force in respect of premises used mainly for the purposes of amusements by means of machines, it is not necessary to obtain a further permit under s. 16 of the 1976 Act in order to provide amusements with prizes. Similarly, where a permit under s. 16 of the 1976 Act is in force in respect of premises used wholly or mainly for the purpose of a pleasure fair consisting of amusements with prizes otherwise than by machines, a further permit under s. 34(1) of the 1968 Act is not necessary in order to provide amusements with prizes by means of machines.

Travelling Showmen's Pleasure fairs

Amusements with prizes are also permissible at any pleasure fair consisting wholly or mainly of amusements provided by travelling showmen which is held on any day of a year on premises not previously used in that year on more than 27 days for the holding of such a pleasure fair; provided that the opportunity to win prizes is not the only, or the only substantial, inducement to persons to attend the fair. The use of machines or other means of gaming at a travelling showman's pleasure fair may not constitute the only, or the only substantial inducement to persons to attend the fair. All-cash machines are not permitted at such fairs.

In each case certain conditions must be observed and if they are broken every person concerned in the provision or conduct of the amusements or gaming will be guilty of an offence (punishable by a fine on summary conviction up to £5,000) unless he can prove that the contravention occurred without his consent or connivance and that he exercised all due diligence to prevent it.
